EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

Emergencies can strike at any time, and preparedness reduces the vulnerability of populations to severe consequences. Cocciardi and Associates, Inc. Emergency Management staff prepare both responders and the public for the consequences of these events. Programs address the preparedness, response, recovery and mitigation phases of emergent events. Whether small in nature (chemical spills) or large in scale (hurricanes and natural disasters or terrorist incidents) staff provide both training and response capabilities to assist with a "return to normal" operation. Programs include:

- Department of Homeland Security Planning, Training and Exercising for First Responders
- Hospital and Health Care Preparedness for First Receivers and HICS personnel
- National Incident Management System Certification
- All Hazards and Terrorism Preparedness Training
- Continuity of Government and Operations Planning

But things do go wrong, and when they do, Cocciardi is prepared 24/7 (800-377-3024) to assist clients with disaster response remediation and emergency consulting services.
